

IST 263 Project Milestone 3 – Site Media

Name: Connor Hicks

Description:

For my final project I want to build a college football scouting website. While I understand that this might be a bit of a tall task for an intro class, I want my project to be smaller scale, sample of an eventual product. I tried coding my own CFB scouting website last year but had no idea what I was doing. I joined this class to learn the skills I would need to create the perfect scouting site. I would have a home page with only a few different schools, each of these would lead to a page with a list of a handful of players for the respective school. Then I would be able to go into specific players' bios and write a small basic paragraph about the players. The focus of this website would be to create the framework and base of the front end of a website. I am extremely interested in football scouting and analytics, and this project will be a great way for me to explore this avenue in depth.
